

Adriane Levy's Testimonial for Nov 2, 2011 Lakewood Hearing Aid Mission

It was a gray overcast chilly day in Lakewood, CO; the streets quieted with the season's first snow fall. Inside the warm office, the energy was high and the faces of those about to receive hearing instruments from the Foundation's Help America Hear Program were bright with anticipation.

Once again, it was a satisfying and significant day for all involved. Everyone worked well together to program the aids; review care and adjustment concerns for the recipients, and then to schedule a re-check. One after another the recipients expressed their gratitude for the instruments with comments like: "I can hear the bus going by"; "I can hear the trees moving"; "I can hear my Mom". Receiving the instruments provides a way for all to maintain easier contact with family and friends; helps students keep up in school, and help others look for work or create new careers.

This year 18 people were lucky enough to be selected for FSS hearing aids.

We look forward to fitting even more people next year.
